TO THE

Worthy and allways Loyal Gentleman

Timothy Fetherston Haugh,

Of Kirkeoswald Esq;

One of His Majesties Justices of the Peace for the County of Cumberland,

William Cookson,

As a Testimony of the Honour and Respects he bears Him, Humbly Dedicates these his

Astronomical, Astrological and Meteorological Essays,

For the Year of our Lord MDCC.

To the Courteous

READERS.

READER,

I Here preſent you with an Ephemeris for the Year 1700; your kind entertainment the laſt Year, hath encourag'd me to this, and I hope will Annually ſo do: The imperfections of the laſt are perfected in this, and the Lunar Aſpects, according to my promiſe, are inſerted to Hours, and are placed at the end of the Table of Houſes, to make room for Monthly Obſervations, to gratifie ſuch as are leſs Aſtronomical. The Moon's Place, was again preſented me by my very good Friend Mr. John Biſhop, whoſe Pains with Gratitude I am oblig'd to own: I think I need make no Apology for the Work. It is probable ſome may (I know ſome do) expect me ſoaring above my Sphere; but I remember Icarus's Fate, and withal ſee how brutiſhly odious ſome have made themſelves, by admitting no Parallel (altho' too many) it is not for me to Dare, or Challenge any, for I have read Pythagoras's Γνῶθι σεαυτὸν, and Menander's Γνῶθι τὰς ἄλλας, and do think, that if ever he read one in Mundo, he hath forgot both in Zodiaco. Indeed I might have Humm'd and Buzz'd like an Inſect in a Summer's-eve, and at laſt darted an inſignificant, malicious, envious Sting, to have made my ſelf ridiculous; but according to the Genuine Rules in Aſtrology ☽ Lord of my Aſc. in ♎, and ☿ in ♂ which ♀ in ♉ will never admit ſuch baſeneſs in me. I ſtill admire at the great Learning and Parts I find in others, and could wiſh the ſame in my ſelf, and until I obtain it, I know no better way than Induſtry and Gratitude, in the Paths of which, Gentlemen, you ſhall annually find your Friend and Servant,

Bee-hive and Globe in Gunyard in Hounſditch. W. Cookſon

Sacred of Old, all Monarchs deemed were;
Tho' envious Factions never quitted clear
The Breaſts of Subjects; but malicious Stings,
Were always common to the beſt of Kings.
Ye Guardian Angels then, take care to be,
A Safeguard ſtrong t'his Sacred Majeſty.

As indigested, and confused lay,
the World by God mishapen till third Day;
His Mighty Fiat, made it smooth and even,
the Earth and Seas in shape as well as Heaven;
Omnipotent! all his great Works so fair,
do their Great Makers Blessedness declare;

Monstrous, Rude, ugly Shapes; how to accord;
All heaps, and dubious as a Ship in a Storm,
Where Sailors actions, ner'e are unifo rme:
What Subject my unskillful Pen! must write,
Thy Countrys Story: Praises and Delight.

When Brute's Three Sons, were Lords of all our Lands
Then Peace and Plenty, walked Hand in Hand;
Uninterrupted Joys o're all the Plains,
And Valleys waited dayly on the Swains,
They knew no Anxious thoughts nor wrinkled Cares,
Age slided gently undisturb'd with Fears,

Till th' Warlike Romans flush'd with Conquest round
On England's Shore Alas! sure footing found;
And kept the same, till their great Empires sway,
Worn out with Time; did dwindle and decay,
Their Arms Victorious 'gainst all Things but Fate,
Which early puts an End to all, or late.

The greatest Empires, thus submit to fate,
and States with Kingdoms tho' they'r ne'er so great,
Give place to time, and moulder in the dust,
At certain periods, tho' th'were ne'er so just,
And perfect in dispensing Justice round,
Yet none of them, but what Conclusions found.

Next came the Danes, and Normans with Succeſs,	1	8	35
And as the Fates wou'd have it, gain'd no leſs;	6	8	15
Then th' Romans; but th' Almighty's care,	11	8	3
In time deliver'd us, from them and Fear;	16	7	47
From that time forward, ne'r again to be	21	7	30

Till th' Warlike Romans flush'd with Conquest round
On England's Shore Alas! sure footing found;
And kept the same, till their great Empires sway,
Worn out with Time; did dwindle and decay,
Their Arms Victorious 'gainst all Things but Fate,
Which early puts an End to all, or late,

The greatest Empires, thus submit to fate,
and States with Kingdoms tho' they'r ne'er so great,
Give place to time, and moulder in the dust,
At certain periods, tho' th'were ne'er so just,
And perfect in dispensing Justice round,
Yet none of them, but what Conclusions found.

Next came the Danes, and Normans with Succes,
And as the Fates wou'd have it, gain'd no less;
Then th' Romans; but th' Almighty's care,
In time deliver'd us, from them and Fear;
From that time forward, ne'r again to be
A prostrate Victim to an Enemy.

August hath XXXI Days.

What bloody Fights and Battells often were,
twixt the two Houses, York and Lancaster;
It is almost incredible to tell,
on that account, how many Thousands fell;
Embru'd in Blood the Nation seem'd all o're,
and Noble Corp's lay weltring in their gore.

Last Civil War, how many Battles fought?
By King and Parliament together brought;
Till He, Alas! a Sacrifice did dye,
T' appease the Malice of his Enemy;
Vertuous Great Prince, his Memory is blest,
Tho' Dead, he Reigns, o'er every Loyal Breast.

November hath XXX Days. ♏ ♐

Here shady Woods, and pleasant Meadows green,
And Fields with Corn, and Shepherds Flocks are seen;
Returning to their Owners, as their Lords,
The fruitful Burdens each of them affords;
Here's Cities, Towns, and Markets, Ports, and Fairs,
All fit for Trading People, and for Wares.

Whereby the Merchant in esteem doth come,
and send out Ships, o'er all the World to roam,
But O! how innocently happy were of old,
the Antient Britains; 'fore the love of Gold Possess'd their Hearts, with sneaking Avarice,
a Sin that's shun'd, and fled from by the Wise.

Of the Eclipses for the Year 1700.

THere will this Year be but Two Eclipses, and both of them will be of the Moon, and the First only will be Visible to us here in England, and is as follows.

The First Eclipse will be Celebrated on the 23 day of February, at 6 Clock in the Morning; in the Celestial Sign Virgo; it will be a very great Eclipse, The whole body of the Moon being darkned, and undoubtedly will have great effect on some parts and places, as to the Sickness and dangerous Distempers in general.

The Second will be Celebrated on the 18th day of August, at 2 a Clock in the Afternoon, in the Celestial Sign Pisces, and therefore not visible to any part of Great Britain, and of little or no signification to us.

One that has been Physi. to a King and Queen (as he says himself, in his translated Mynsicht, and Reformed Mopus) having sent a Letter to one that was Physi. to K. Charles II. to make a Discovery of a Sygil (as he calls it) which I made, the latter being very industrious in promoting the others Interest, & è contra to make me (as well as others) odious, I think myself obliged to to say this in way of reply, That I have, and will make such (notwithstanding their Malicious, Envious, Snarling) and do think their Ignorance no warrant for me to decry any thing, which others as well as I know there is a truth in. I could not but Admire what I had done, to Stir up the Indignation of two such High and Mighty Men; that have had the Airy, Noisy, and Empty Titles, (theirs being no other) of Physitian to a King or Queen, but I will answer them with Horace. Book. 1. Epist. 16.

Tu recte vivis, si curas, esse quod audis:
Jactamus jampridem omnes te Roma Beatum,
Sed vereor, ne cui de te plus, quam tibi credas.

Note, neither of these Physitians, have ever had the Honour to wait upon his Majesty's Bears, much less——and it is a Scandal for any ingenious Man to have a good report from either of them.

Sacred

Astrological Judgment for the Year 1700.

SAcred Urania give thy Servant leave,
In thy rich Garland, one poor Flower to weave:
Let it be Lawful for my artless Quill,
To gain assistance from the Learned still.
Thy Virgin Glory to Immortalize,
And place thee above the reach of vulgar Eyes.
And thou without, whose all-performing Aid,
Each humane labour is in vain assay'd;
Thou supernatural Essence, oh! Inspire
Into my Breast part of thy Sacred Fire:
So while my Pen through th' Universe doth run,
And trace Celestial Bodies, it may shun.
Sinister Courses, and may take the Way,
That truth and reason leads, and so assay.
To shew how thy all-wondrous works are found,
In every part of the Universal round.

AS a Premium to my Astrological judgement for this Year I Intend to Hint a little upon the Winter-Quarter, there be-ne upwards of two Months of that included in this. So the ☉ enters the first Scruple of the Sign Capricorn, upon December the 22th. 0 H. 1 M. Afternoon, at which time ♑ od Culminator, and ♈ od possesses the East Angle, or Horizon. In the Figure there is no less than the Sun, Moon, Jupiter, Venus, and Mercury; all locally posited in the 10th House, and thence Darting their Trine Aspects into the Second House, that being the Nations house of Substance, Wealth, or Riches. It is a most excellent Position, signifying great Encrease of Trade, especially Merchandizing from all parts, as also the part of Fortune in the Ascendent; and Saturn Lord of the tenth and eleventh, Strong in his own House, confirms the same at home here in England, Saturn being in a Sextile to Englands Ascendant, all which positions do vnanmiously concord, to predict this Nations Peace, Plenty, and Safety, in all parts, and in all places from the noise of the roaring Cannon, and warlike Drum, more then of late it has been; for

War

War was ordain'd for nothing else but Peace,
Peace follows always when the Wars do cease,

As we have of late most happily (by the Blessing of God) been very sensible of in these Islands of Great Brittain, and Ireland, having no cause at all to fear any new irruptions, there not being in this Scheame oen Planet Malevolently posited (except Mars Lord of the Ascendant) who is in his Detriment in the seventh House, in oppositian to the Ascendent, this indeed may signifie a discontent, or murnering amongst our selves being seldom or never satisfied with that Station God of His goodness hath Placed us in, altho' according to our own Petitions; we only are our own Enemies, in being so uneasy, and that with out any cause at all, as Mars Lord of the Ascendents Position plainly demonstrates; for Venus who is Lady of the 7th. and that is the general significator of Kingdoms publicke Enemies (if any such there be) is in Conjunction with Jupiter in the tenth House, and strong reception of Mars He being in his House, and She in his Exaltation; which is a most certain signification of Peace and Quirtness from abroad, and good Understanding at home; and as Saturn Lord of the tenth, being so well posited in the eleventh, and essentially Strong in his own House, disposing of no less than all the other Planets, Viz. Five in his own House, and the Sixth. in his Exaltation, does intimate that our Senator, or they that sit at the Helm of Government will

Altho' in Peace, for War so well provide,
As in each State, no Harm may us betide.

Prudently foreseeing that

Surges may rise in sudden, are they think,
And while they Swim secure, compel them Sink.

And since they take all this care of us, what need we Repine but rather return Thanks to Almighty God, who hath blessed us with a lasting Peace, and pay our obedience to our Superiors, that we may always be worthy to enjoy the same. And so I come to Suns entrance in the Celestial Sign Aries, of which you are here presented with a Scheam from Astrommina Carrolina.

In this Figure the regal Sign Leo, possesses the Horoscope, and being a fixed Sign according to those Rules laid down in my last it may serve very well for the whole Year, and accordingly from it I will deduct some Astrologicall Judgement, or Predictions.

The Sign ascending with its Lord, also the Sign Culminating with its Lord and the Moon, are the genral and particular Significators of the Kingdom, or Place where the Figure erected for, and both these Significators being so essentially strong, signifies that the Nation in General, as also his most Sacred Majesty, or Supreme Powers of England in Particular, are now, and under God, a ways will be too strong and powerful, for any Adversary whatsoever, either publick or private (if any there be that durst to appear) to grapple or contend with, for Saturn who is Lord of the seventh, and Venus Lady of the fourth, which are the Significators of Enemies in General, are both weak being out of all Essental Dignities, and that alone would make them faint-faint-hearted and timorous, not being capable of undertaking any thing to the prejudice of these Three happy Nations.

Indeed Venus Lady of the fourth, being is the last degree of Aries, and so entring into the Sign Taurus, which is here own House, may stir up some great Hero, and give him Heart enough to discover his Audacity, but he or they had better to forbear, for I have often observed that,

As Trees are weakest at the Top,
So Tyrants fall, even in their height of Hope.

And even then when Venus does come into her own House, she casts her Trine Aspect into the second House, which more fully demonstrates the good Understanding, and intire Union, that there will be amongst the People in general; and then the Moon seperating from a Conjunction of Mercury, Lord of the eleventh and second Houses, and immediatly applying to a Conjunction of the Sun, Lord of the Ascendent, certainly predicts that we shall want neither Mony nor Freinds, but on the contrary shall enriched by the industry of other Nations, flocking hither as to the only Paradice upon Earth, and thereby happily enjoying that which for many years we have so much wanted, Viz. Free and Undisturbed Enjoyment of Trade and Commerce, which of late hath bin so much complained of, whereby every Man becomes easy and content, bearing neither Malice, Hatred, nor Envy at each other, but readily, and willingly pay that obedience, which in Duty we ought to our Superiors.

And on the other hand as Mars Lord of the tenth House Embraces the Sun, who is Lord of the Ascendent, in his own House, and the Sun's Exaltation, so it signifies that we shall not want the greatest of Encouragement for our Loyalty, from great Cesar himself, who shall shelter us under the Umbrage of his most Sacred Bounty, most liberally rewarding every particular deserving loyal Person: For Bonatus saith, Si fortune aspexerint ascendent, vel Dominum Anni significant bonum esse corporum populorum in revolutione istâ: If either of the Fortunes behold the Ascendent Lord of the Year, it signifies good to the People under that revolution; it also signifies that Peoples Loyalty to be built upon Love not

not Fear, which will make it endure the longer, and make us ſtrive to outdo each other in Loyalty. And thus,

Through planetray Beams our judgment ſway
Earth's as eternal, active light, as they.

And ſo I ſhall conclude with that excellent Aſtronomical Poet, Manilius.

Projecta jacent animali cuncta
In terra, vel merſa vadis, vel in aere pendent
Omnibus una quies, &c.

All Animals that be do grovelling lye
Or in the Earth, the Water, or the Sky;
One reſt, one ſenſe, one belly like in all
Which they communicate in General.
But man conſiſts of Soul and Body link't,
Of Councils capable, of Voice diſtinct,
He into natural cauſes doth inſpect,
And knows what to deviſe, how to direct;
Into the world he Arts and Science brings,
And Searches out the hidden birth of Things:
The unplough'd Earth He to his Will ſubdues,
And all it brings forth he knows how to uſe,
The untam'd Beaſt he doth at pleaſure bind,
He in the Seas, untrodden Paths doth find.
He only ſtands with an erected Breaſt,
As the Sole Victor over all the reſt.
His Star like Eyes, into the Stars inquire
The Heavens themſelves He Scales (if he deſire)
He ſeeks out Jove, his thoughts will not be ty'de
The Stores from him in vain themſelves do hide,
He not content to look them in their Faces,
Ranſack their Houſes, their moſt Secret places.
This is the Scope of Man's all prying Mind,
Himſelf he hopes among the Stars to find,
But finds there's nothing conſtant, nothing ſtill doth ſtay,
For Birth and Death, have ſtill ſucceſſive ſway:

More

Here one thing Springs not till another Dye
Only the Maker lives Immortally.
The Almighty Stable, Body of the all,
Of changfull Chances common Apeenal;
All like it selfe, All in it self contained,
Which by times flight, hath neither lost nor gain'd.

Last Year I presented the Reader with the Discription of the Sign Aries, both in it self, and with them all the several places in in it that he might see the Viration, which their Positions produced.

And now I will present him with the Sign Taurus according to the same method, and so continue untill I have discribed all the 12 Signs as follows.
